

Official Documentation Repository for Kühling&Kühling Products

Kühling&Kühling is an Open Source Hardware company by Jonas Kühling and Simon Kühling. Here you find a collection of all documentation resources for our products.

VP75

The VP75 Additive Manufacturing System is a large scale, high volume production unit. The Open Source Hardware machine is developed and manufactured by Kühling&Kühling. For all questions not answered with these pages, you can always contact us directly.

In the following you find the official documentation and all further product-related information about the VP75:

icon\_start\_up.png-40Initial Commissioning Guide ▾

General

Safety

Description

Transport and installation

Initial commissioning

Operation

Service Guide

Troubleshooting

Knowledge base

Technical Data

Quick Start Guide

Buy the VP75

---

HT500

The HT500 3D printer is an Open Source Hardware machine developed and manufactured by Kühling&Kühling. For all questions not answered with these pages, you can always contact us directly.

In the following you find the official documentation and all further product-related information about the HT500:

Initial Commissioning Guide ▾

- Manual
- Service Guide
- Troubleshooting
- Knowledge base
- Technical Data
- Quick Start Guide

Buy the HT500

---

RepRap Industrial

The RepRap Industrial 3D printer is an Open Source Hardware machine developed and manufactured by Kühling&Kühling.

For all questions not answered with these pages, you can always contact us directly.

New here?

Find a detailed first steps guide here
(initial commissioning information)

In the following you find the official documentation and all further product-related information about the RepRap Industrial:

- Quick Start Guide
  - Manual
  - Technical Data
  - Service Guide
  - Troubleshooting
  - Knowledge base
  - Software & Firmware Upgrades
-

RepRap Industrial v0 (development prototype)

At the beginning of 2013 Kühling&Kühling demonstrated a pre-production prototype of the RepRap Industrial at FabCon.3D tradeshow in Erfurt/Germany and started to accept pre-orders on the final series production model.

This revision was not actually manufactured, so these pages are for historical reference only.

- Overview (Pictures, Specifications, Features)